Also, it appears to me that the govt is rewarding microsoft for "bully tactics"

having worked with some govt agencies before, I also noticed that they are almost totally microsoft themselves, so how is it possible to judge on someone that you rely on so heavily?

I also wish to bring to light the practice that some universities use. they get free Microsoft server software if all other types are kept from the competition..how is THIS being fair.

In my opinion Microsoft corporation has such an almost insurmountable advantage that I am not sure if the U.S. Govt is not afraid of them..

thank you
